

Pocahontas County Landmark Commission

The Pocahontas County Landmark Commission was established by the County Court in January 1985 with the appointment of Ruth Morgan, Michael Edds, Moffett McNeel, Jessie Powell and Madge Bledsoe to serve on the Commission.

In February 1985 the Landmark Commission voted to compile a county historic register and to ask the public to submit information on sites and buildings that should be considered for inclusion. Citizens were informed of tax incentives available for persons owning property listed on the National Register of Historical Places.

In March of 1985, Chairman Michael Edds was informed Pocahontas County's request for an organizational and survey grant was approved for $3,000. In May the County Commission agreed to match the State grant and to provide office space in the Court House Annex.

On January 24, 1986, Jim Bonham, State Grants Manager, and Rodney S. Collins, Architectural Historian, both from the Department of Culture and History, two commission members and twenty-nine guests met to acquaint volunteers with the procedures used in making the survey, stressing the physical, documentational and resource phases.

Michael Edds resigned from the Commission and Ruth Morgan was elected to become their chairman. Michael Gioulis was hired as consultant for the survey and Dotty McMillian as coordinator.

The Landmark Commission strives to promote interest in preserving and recording the history of our county and with the help of many volunteers has compiled this survey with the intention of adding to it as more information on historic sites and buildings is gathered.

INTRODUCTION

The Pocahontas County Historic Landmarks Commission was formed by a number of interested citizens. Its purpose, as defined in West Virginia State enabling legislation, is to identify, register and protect historic sites in Pocahontas County. In order to better understand the available resources in the county, the Commission found it necessary to conduct a survey to identify historic sites. It applied to the West Virginia Department of Culture and History for a Survey and Planning grant to perform this activity and was successful in receiving funds. The project began in the spring of 1986 with the selection of a preservation consultant to assist the project coordinator in conducting the survey.

The project was originally designed to include the participation of the public through the use of volunteers to perform some of the survey work. It was envisioned that the volunteers could do much of the field work and the initial visits, with the consultant reviewing their work, planning and guiding it, and insuring its presentation in the appropriate professional manner. For the most part, this approach has worked in Pocahontas County. Thanks to the efforts of the project coordinator, Dotty McMillian, and the chair of the Commission, Ms. Ruth Morgan, there has been a body of volunteers available for consultation and action when necessary. Without their assistance the project could not have proceeded as it did. All of the volunteers who worked on the survey, as well as the Pocahontas County Historic Landmark Commission, deserve a heartfelt thanks and congratulations. In particular, the efforts of Madge Bledsoe in typing the work, the staff of the Pocahontas County Sheriff Department for putting up with the inconvenience and offering assistance and coffee when necessary to keep the consultant alive, and the expert photography of Eugene Burner and David Arrington are noted for their invaluable contribution to the successful completion of the project.

The survey was termed a reconnaissance survey from the beginning. It was recognized that little work at identifying historic sites had been accomplished in the past and the Commission was starting from the beginning. The purpose of the survey is to investigate the county as a whole, identify patterns of historic development, review what resources still exist, and provide a framework for further in depth research of specific sites. It is not intended to provide information or research sites at a level possible for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places. The report and the survey will be used to guide the Commission on where to concentrate efforts in future surveys and nominations.

In conducting the survey, the consultant briefly reviewed the history of the County to determine significant periods and themes of development. The survey was conducted under the basic guidelines of the proposed Resource Protection Planning program of the State of West Virginia. It is anticipated that the survey will fit into the RP3 process and format. Towards this end, the report and survey are presented in the following manner:

The county was divided into geographic areas based on the existing magisterial districts. This made the individual units more manageable and should be useful for future planning.

The themes identified were then categorized within each district as to their contribution within 13 general historic categories of the state, ie. agriculture, commerce, etc. (see list at beginning of inventory).

Sites were identified by the project coordinator and volunteers contacted within each of the districts. Sites were then recorded on West Virginia Inventory forms and reviewed by the consultant for completeness. The consultant reviewed the historic significance of the site and assigned it to a particular theme. These were all then compiled in one report and mapped on a county map and numbered. Further refinement of the categorization and mapping is expected as part of a second phase project.

Most of the sites identified in this manner are therefore related to a preconceived notion of what is significant to the residents of the county. The volunteers have been involved in various historic and preservation projects in the past including the 1981 History of Pocahontas County and the restoration of the Marlinton Railroad Depot. They are therefore familiar with the history and sites in the county. The approach, then, is considered valid in identifying the locally significant sites. The next phase should include review of this work as well as some original survey work by a trained professional to locate sites that may not be apparent to residents.

The report is intended as a means of reviewing the survey project and making informed decisions on where to concentrate efforts in the future. Recommendations are made concerning continued research and potential landmark sites. The report is organized in a manner that will be useful for its reference use.

The introduction is first as a means of describing the project and familiarizing one with the process. A brief history of the county is not included due to time constraints and the availability of recent, as well as former, historical sketches that illustrate the significance of events and persons in the County's, state's and nation's history. This is followed by the Inventory Summary by district with each site given a number referring to the accompanying map, and identified within a thematic category. West Virginia State inventory forms are included for each site. Photographs of each site also accompany the report. The presentation of the inventory is followed by a recommendation section. This proposes follow up activities to be undertaken by the Landmark Commission. Some of these are long range goals and actions, some are immediate. The sites are prioritized for immediate research activity and possible National Register or Local listing.

The report will be presented to the West Virginia Department of Culture and History. A copy will also be available at the offices of the Pocahontas County Historic Landmark Commission. The original inventory forms, as well as any background material and research information, will be filed with the Landmark Commission. Negatives for the photos will also be maintained by the Commission for further work.

The report is not considered the final activity in the preservation of historic sites in the County. As discussed previously, it is the first step in developing a process for decision-making and activities for the protection and recognition of Pocahontas County's heritage. Further inventory work, in depth research, and other actions are necessary.

The project team would like to thank all of the persons involved in completing the survey. The local residents and interested people of Pocahontas County who gave their time and knowledge are a valuable resource for this and future work. The staff of the Historic Preservation unit in Charleston are also thanked for their assistance. The staff at the Courthouse who worked on copying the report did an outstanding job. The members of the County Commission, without whose support there would be no Pocahontas County Historic Landmark Commission are primary in the process. To these persons and all others who worked on the project, a hearty thanks.

Transportation

The Indian trails in the county should be investigated for historic or archaeology sites.

The Staunton to Parkersburg Turnpike should be surveyed.

The Durbin Railroad Depot as well as other railroad sites including the Water tower in Marlinton are significant.

Churches

The county is dotted with picturesque, small community churches and cemeteries. Many of these are in excellent shape and retain much of their original fabric. The specific sites identified are listed in the inventory summary.

A number of the churches reviewed were considered architecturally significant enough to warrant listing. A thematic listing can be developed for the following and other sites:

- A0018 Liberty Presbyterian Church.
- A0026 Dunmore United Methodist Church.
- A0029 Baxter Presbyterian Church.
- B006 Hamlin Chapel.
- B0010 Edray United Methodist Church.
- B0013 Grace Episcopal Church.
- D007 Wesley Chapel Methodist Church.
- D0012 Oak Grove Presbyterian Church.
- D0014 Lower "Old" Droop Church.

Schools

A number of schoolhouses still exist in the county. A large number of one and two room rural schoolhouse were also identified. These are shown on the map. At one time there were schoolhouses every 5 miles or so. Many still exist in adaptive uses.

Military

The most significant site recognized in the county is the Droop Mountain Battlefield. This is a State Park and is being preserved. There are a number of sites in the Droop Mountain area that are associated with the battle. This vicinity should be surveyed for the related sites as well as the Hillsboro community. A number of other residences and sites relate to this theme. Refer to the lists for identification. The area around Bartow should be surveyed for its involvement in the Battle in that Vicinity.

Architecture

There was observed that a number of builders or architects were involved in constructing many structures in the county. These should be surveyed as a theme for each individual. Attempts should be made to locate and identify a body of work for each of these individuals. They are listed below with sites in the survey identified.

Asbury Smith. Pocahontas County Courthouse; Nick McCoy House D0034; Other houses in Marlinton.

Littlepage/Dassenville from Greenbrier County. Harper Beard House D0035.

Capt. Smith. Will Yeager House C003.

Robert Auldrige. Frank R. Hill House C004.

Frank and E.D. King.

The Historic Landmark Commission should continue the survey process, finishing the reconnaissance survey for any areas not completed. The survey efforts should then turn towards the historic districts and National Register sites listed above. Then efforts should be expended on researching the sites identified as locally significant in category Two. Some of these may yield information warranting National Register nomination.

As a final comment, archaeological sites were not investigated under this project. It would be beneficial to conduct a reconnaissance survey or random sampling at some time in the near future to determine the possibility of sites in the county. Some sites are noted in the recommendations portion of the report.

leather would be wet and drilled. The pegs would be driven into the shoe and permitted to dry.

After the first World War, the shoe factories were mechanized and sewing machines were starting to come into use to sew the sole to the upper leather. This meant that the use of hemlock leather was over and a softer tannage was required. In 1918, a combination of extracts made from hemlock, oak, chestnut and quebracho (an extract produced from a tree of the same name from South America) was blended and the softer leather was produced.

Said to be the largest independent tanning company in the United States.

CATEGORY TWO

This category should be considered as sites that may have potential for National Register but need additional research to reach that decision. They should all qualify as local landmarks at least for their examples of regional architectural styles or their association with persons or events significant to the county. The sites in this category correspond to the list of inventory sites as presented in other sections of this report. Refer to the individual inventory forms for specific information or mapping location. During the course of research, some of these sites may be determined to not qualify for listing due to lack of integrity or other reasons.

CATEGORY THREE

In this category are sites that were reviewed as potential historic districts. They all have an association of their components that combines to form a significance that may be greater than any one of the individual sites. Rural historic districts as well as ones in more urban settings are listed. In all cases more research is necessary and intensive level surveys should be conducted in each of the districts. They are listed in priority order but funding or other circumstances may necessitate completing one before another. It should be recognized that it is an accumulation of sites and structures that gives an historic district its significance, therefore, losses of some of these sites may preclude listing of the district.

A historic district is divided into two types of sites; contributing and non-contributing. There should be no more than 25% non-contributing sites in a district. The contributing may be further broken into pivotal or major sites and contributing ones. Most districts have 10% or so pivotal sites.

1. Huntersville. This is the original county seat of Pocahontas county, and many sites related to the court are extant as well as later development sites.
2. Hillsboro. Perhaps one of the older communities in the county, there are a large number of extant sites in the town.
3. Marlinton. The town should be surveyed. Portions of it are in relative intact condition, though some has been damaged by flooding.
4. Green Bank. An old settlement, many sites identified in the survey were from this town, including The Hitching Tree A0046, the Green Bank United Methodist Church A0016, and The IOOF Building A005.
5. Edray. A small rural area, the sites in this community are intact, though not in use anymore.
6. Cloverlick.
7. Durbin. This is a significant town in the development of the timber industry.
8. Millpoint. A significant settlement area in the county.

CATEGORY FOUR

The sites in this category relate to each other through a particular theme. Some may be individually eligible but all gain significance through their interrelationship of representing a period or area of significance in the county's, state's or nation's history. The themes are presented below with some suggestions of sites to be included within them. More research within each theme will be needed to compile a representative sampling of the resources for protection.

Rothkugel filled one pocket with Norway Spruce seed and the other with European Larch seed which he obtained from the Tyrolean Mountains of Austria. The seeds were planted instead of being broadcast to protect them from the birds. Black locust was planted to protect the young plants from cattle ranging in the area.

The Hevener Church is the oldest Church of the Brethren in Pocahontas County; the first one built in the Back Mt. Area from Durbin to Cass. Worship before this was held in school houses. The Hevener Family has owned the land, built the church and now some even in the fifth generation want to restore the building for use as a memorial church with a museum to keep the history of the beginning of the Brethren faith in this community. With the closing of the Brethren Church in 1966 much has been lost to the community as a whole. (See attached sheet). a. Architect/Builder/Engineer: Mauzy, Mullenax 1905, using all donated labor and material. Over the years the Bethel people have taken pride in the Church property. The first grave in the cemetery was in 1910 and until only recently have we had to charge for a burial plot due to the cost of upkeep. Our only "claim to fame" is the most beautiful church and well kept grounds for miles around.

The family of Jim Sutton (born 1849) lived in a log cabin near where this house stands. They cut down trees on their farm, had lumber sawed and planed it at the building sight. Summers Sutton, the eldest son built this house. He also built for himself the house now owned by Joe Jones and the house that is now the funeral home for his brother, Wilford. Summers Sutton was also a cabinet maker.

c Date(s)

According to Wm T. Price he was "one of the most remarkable persons that ever lived in our county." As constable he managed his office and worked in it for all it was worth. At about age 20, having earned the reputation of being "the fastest" young man in the county, he did a complete "about face", attended the Green Bank Academy, the Dickinson

College and was graduated among the best in his class. He returned to Green Bank and was head master of the Academy, built the brick house across from the Academy. He went from there to Winchester, Va., as headmaster of The Female Seminary. He entered the ministry and became a noted pulpit orator. He married a Miss Gibbons, a sister of the gallant Colonel S. B. Gibbons, 10th Va. Infantry.

RECOMMENDATIONS

This initial survey of Pocahontas County uncovered a number of sites that are considered to be of potential historic significance. These sites are located throughout the county and pertain to a number of the themes identified. Recommendations for further action on these sites are presented below. A number of recommendations apply to all of the sites in general or to activities of the Historic Landmark Commission. These are presented first.

The first recommendation is that the Landmark Commission continue the work begun by this survey. This was only designed as a very general overview of the possible resources that exist in the county. As that, this project has succeeded. There are though a number of areas that need additional research as well as some themes. These areas include those that were not covered under this project due to time or other constraints. The Little Levels area is one where a large potential exists but was barely scratched by this survey. The Slaty Fork area is another where more research is necessary. The area in the south west of the county requires more inventory, as well as that to the north west. All of these areas should be surveyed as were the areas completed this summer.

Another recommendation is the listing of some of the sites identified on a county Historic Landmark Register. This is important as it provides the county a method of recognizing sites that are significant to the county or specific localities in the county, but may not be significant enough to warrant listing on the National Register. It is also a method of short cutting the months. Projects that need immediate recognition can be listed on a County Register until such time is available for further listing. The county register can also recognize periods or areas of significance that may not meet federal criteria such as the minimum age level, 50 years.

In creating a County Register, a logical and standardized nomination process and criteria for evaluation must be established. Normally, beginning with the National Criteria and modifying it is adequate. One modification may be lowering the age limit to 40 or 30 years if a large number of sites that are significant to the county fall into that period. Another is to recognize specific themes that are particularly significant to the the county. These may be Railroads; Chemical Industry; Oil and gas; River transportation; etc.

The nomination process can be simple to make it accessible to the public. For example, one county requires the completion of a State Inventory Form as the documentation for a nomination. This is submitted to the Historic Landmark Commission at one of the regularly scheduled meetings or mailed in time to be reviewed at meeting. At the following meeting the Commission votes whether to accept it for listing after discussion or receipt of any additional information it may have requested. This meeting delay on voting allows the preparer or anyone interested to comment on the nomination. A process such as this, or any that meets the requirements of the county can be employed. The important thing is to have a regular logical process for listing.

Recommendations that refer to the particular sites reviewed in this project are presented below. They are divided into a number of major categories. The first is sites that the survey team recognizes as having major historical or architectural significance and recommends for National Register listing as individual sites. The second is sites that appear to have some significance but may not be eligible for National Register Listing. These should be considered as local landmarks and listed on a local register. During this listing process, additional information can be provided that would aid in the decision on National listing. In other words, additional research may be necessary on these sites. The third category is sites that should be investigated as potential Historic Districts. To do this, intensive level surveys of these sites should be accomplished. The fourth category is that of potential thematic nominations. Again the sites in these themes or the themes themselves will need to be investigated on a more intensive level.

CATEGORY ONE

The sites in this category were determined to have such major significance that they were recognized immediately as eligible for National Register Listing. These are sites that are of primary importance to the county or history of the state or nation. A list and brief discussion of these sites follows. Please refer to the appropriate inventory form as indicated by the Survey number in parentheses. More in depth research will need to be done on these sites to complete nomination forms.

1. A004 Traveller's Repose. This is a very significant site in the transportation theme of the county as a stop or inn on the Turnpike. It is also the site of a Civil War battle and is identified on the map accompanying the report in the Official Record's.
2. A006 Rothkugel Plantation. This site is significant as the beginning of forrest management in the timber industry.
3. A0027 Isaac Moore Farm. This is a significant farm in the county and an intact architectural site.
4. A0044 Dr. Moomau House. This is a very intact and significant piece of architecture for the county with the complex of buildings that relate to the practise of Dr. Moomau.
5. A0049 Isaac Moore Jr. House.

Knocked over by vandals, hidden by brush and weeds. Cannot be maintained because it is on private land. Owner does not wish attention to be drawn to his property because it is an important part of the battlefield and his privacy would be threatened by relic hunters and others.

This is a very old home used by several generations of the Callison family. James Callison Sr., one of the earliest settlers of the area had this land in 1783-1784. An earlier home stood not far from the present one. All of the children of Josiah Callison, Richard Callison and Denny Mount Callison were born in the present home. In 1787 a circuit rider preacher, John Smith, wrote of coming to the James Callison place and preaching there. He wrote of the "ordinary" house which at that time meant a place where meals were served to travelers. Some believe the present home was the one of which he wrote. The house stands on a ridge that

Name(s) Historic/Common: Denmar Sanitarium/Hospital D-0045

Denmar (Sanitarium) Hospital, located approximately 15 miles south of Marlinton, 5 miles east of Hillsboro off U.S. Route 219 (Denmar Road) was established by an act of the W. Va. Legislature in 1917 for the care and treatment of persons of the Negro race afflicted with tuberculosis. The hospital is healthfully situated on an 85 acre tract of land at about 2,200 feet above sea level on an eminence overlooking the Greenbrier River in the Allegheny Mountains. Present hospital building has a capacity of 240 beds, making it one of the largest of its type for Negroes in the United States.

In 1938, this same facility was designated a hospital by the Legislature and was reorganized to accommodate any resident of the State of West Virginia requiring long term medical treatment and/or custodial care in a medical environment. In the 1970's, Denmar was designated and certified for Medicaid patients and now serves as an intermediate treatment facility or more commonly referred to as a Nursing Home. On the hospital grounds are former nurses quarters which are now licensed Personal Care facilities for the Department of Human Services.

West: Some people think an Indian trail or branch of a trail came through Bridger Gap and around the mountain pass the old A. E. Boblett home, continuing around the natural "benches" of the Gilligan Mountain (to the west and opposite Buckman School), on around the mountains and through the Cranberry region. There seems to be a little controversy as to whether a trail went along the tops of these mountains and through the High Rocks. East: The road that came down through the "Flats" can still be seen in places below the present road on the old J.S. Cook Farm, along the edge of the Dolan Farm, (Continued on next page)

Part of building dates to Fort Day, c.1780. Reportedly built by John McNeel who settled in the area in the late 1700's. He was in the Militia, in Capt. John Stuart's Co. of Greenbrier Volunteers, Botetourt County Regiment. He took part in the Battle of Point Pleasant on Oct. 10, 1774. The McNeel Family is very prominent in the county and the farm is still in their name. John McNeel died in 1825.

Sinking Spring:

A group of Confederate soldiers, suffering with fever, were retreating south and camped at Sinking Springs to gain strength before continuing their journey. Several of the soldiers died at this spot and are buried here (graves are unmarked today but there are sunken areas of the ground which identify their location). Several families came to the Sinking Springs location and removed bodies from the graves to return them to family cemeteries.

The Sinking Springs water is Chalyheate. The spring appears and disappears three different places.

John and James Bridger were slain on this ridge during the last raid made by Indians in what is now Pocahontas County. The Bridger boys had responded to a call for help after Henry Baker and Richard Hill had been killed. The Bridger brothers and Nathan, a colored man belonging to Lawrence Drinnon, had left the main party to take a short cut when attacked by the Indians. Nathan had stopped to fasten his moccasins and thus was out of sight of the Indians and escaped harm.

b Style/Period Federalc Date(s) 1852

The front part of this house, plus an outside kitchen was used by Averile to feed his men when he camped overnight in Green Bank on his way to Droop Mt. He ordered the local women to cook their meals. One of the ladies, who rubbed snuff, spat in the food - hating the "feds" as they did. The present cellar was built with the stones from the old outside kitchen.
